

"Encounter The King was my son's first exposure to ABCs. At bedtime, I would read one booklet with him until he could read it back to me. We moved through each of the booklets this way. By age two he loved to sit with all of the booklets (which were the perfect size for little hands to hold) and read the theological alphabet to whoever would listen.

Since ETK was his first exposure to the ABCs, throughout the day when he recognized a letter on a sign or another book, he would often connect it to the theological alphabet and say, 'Look, Mommy! A. Almighty. God is Almighty.'"
